

BALLARD CORNERS PARK

HISTORIC PHOTOS

Druggist Arthur Preston operated this drug store at 5311 Ballard Ave NW. Bartell Drugs eventually took over this location with its store #4.

Bartell Drugs, store #4, moved to this new location at 5349 Ballard Ave NW. Later the store moved again, to Market Street and subsequently to the present location on 22nd Avenue NW.

Built in 1890, this church shares its birth year with the City of Ballard. It was constructed to serve the German Congregational Church led by Pastor Gottfried Graedel. It closed for lack of support after ten years. For a short time the building was rented to the Ballard School Board to house a school.

Other congregations used the church in the mid-1950s, including the Zion and Apostolic Lutheran congregations. The church stands today at 1763 NW 62nd Street.

Several female members of the Apostolic Lutheran congregation pose in front of the church located at 1763 NW 62nd Street. They rented the church from the Zion Lutheran congregation, whose sign is in the background, before purchasing the church in 1950.

Carstensen's Grocery was located at 15th Ave NW and NW 60th Street.

In the 1920's Peterson Plumbing and Heating drove a float, complete with toilet and claw foot tub, in a local parade. Peterson's store was located at 5204 Ballard Ave.
